ONCE MORE THE DAMIEN STORY COMES TO THE FRONT

Kohala, August 17, 1905. 'Father" James C. Beissel:

Dear Sir: In order not to wrong another innocent man, I want to correct an error in my letter relating to the Hyde-Damien affair, that was published in the Hawaiian Gazette of June 20. Instead of "Father Damien's predecessor," read "Father Damien's successor," and that, I believe, will make all correct. Please consider yourself at liberty to use this correction at your own discretion. Yours truly,

E. C. BOND. P. S.-Provided, of course, that you any point. I believe my version with the above correction is all correct.

As an aside, it may interest you to know that I myself labored for a time under the impression that Father Damien was the man who raised a scandal by immoralities in this district. I left the islands for a time immediately after the occurrence and in course of time forgot the details and got the identiwe will sell on Monday, at 10 a. m., ties mixed when Father Damien's misfortune became known. Perhaps the guilty man's name was Fabien, but probably your church records will tell the whole story. He was here but a E. C. B. short time.

> Honolulu, August 19, 1905. Mr. E. C. Bond:

Dear Sir: Your kind favor of the 17th inst. at hand. I thank you for the delicacy of conscience you show in it.

The error you wish to correct has been noticed by me as such at once, but paper dies right there. Now, this is them up just as well, if you will, and as no name was mentioned and nobody has taken offense at it, so I let it pass. As to the facts at the bottom of your statement, the public can appreciate them. For the public it matters little to know whether it was Father Damien's successor or predecessor who was guilty of scandal. But isn't there any difference between an alleged scandal and a proven scandal? The Waimea courts had the case nolleprossed. Now, if in your private opin-Chairs, Cash Register, Tables, Clock, ion you believe the man to be guilty, 2 WASHINGTON LIGHTS, 500 can- it is your own affair, but if you state it in public, you expose yourself to prosecution for libel. Nothing short of sentence of a court brands a crime on a person's character.

In consequence the man on whor you wish Father Damien's false accusations should stick, has a right to enjoy the benefit of the doubt.

Now, was it the love of God or something else which built up an accusation on such a shaky foundation? What motive was there, anyhow, what provocation, I may ask, either on Father Damien's or on the Catholic Mission's part, to start such a story? If an old woman gives way to a certain itch of evil talk, sensible people don't mind it much. But consider all the circumstances. Who did the accusing? whom did he accuse? of what and for what reason or motive did he start the accusation, and tell me whether the plea of mistaken identity "is an excuse in this case?"

You labored yourself, you say, for a time, under the impression that Father Damien was the man entangled in the alleged Kohala scandal, and you have also corresponded on this subject with Dr. Hyde. I suppose this correspondence took place during the time that you were yet under the said erroneous impression, and by the said correspondence you confirmed your friend in his false impressions. The reason why

I suppose this is that previous to June 20 of this year the said error has never been avowed and has never been corrected. Such being the case, please accept for yourself the big half of the shame and the blame which Dr. Hyde brought home for himself from this ignoble enterprise.

Yours truly, JAMES C. BEISSEL.

OPPOSED TO HOGS.

City, August 15, 1905.

Editor of "Bystander" column: I wish you would take a fall out of some of these daily paper hogs that infest do not know that I am still in error on our coffee saloons and restaurants, in one of your Sunday morning issues. What I refer to is this:-Most of our restaurants and cafes take a copy or two of the morning and evening papers for the benefit of their patrons, who, as I look at the matter, are supposed to glance through it, thereby gathering the cream of the news, a further reading to be had later on, and hand the paper to their neighbor to do the same. Such is not the case with the "hogs." One of them comes in and gobbles onto the morning or evening paper, stands it up against the sugar bowls, so that he can read it all the time he is feeding his face. That paper is a gone woodchuck for the morning. No other patron will get a look at it. But that is not all. After the "hog" has finished his nineteen-doughnuts-and-a-cup- not an exceptional morning circus, but of-coffee-for-a-nickel breakfast he an every morning occurrence, which pushes back the empty dishes and can be verified by anyone who will take starts all over again, and what little the trouble. I suppose I could get in hope anyone else had of seeing that and burn them up, but you can burn

YOU WILL NOT be deceived. That there are cheats and frauds in plenty everybody knows; but it is seldom or never that any large business house is guilty of them, no matter what line of trade it follows. There can be no permanent success of any kind based on dishonesty or deception. There never was, and never will be. The men who try that are simply fools and soon come to grief, as they deserve. Now many persons are, nevertheiess, afraid to buy certain adver-tised articles lest they be humbugged and deluded; especially are they slow to place confidence in published statements of the merits of medicines. The effective modern remedy known as WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION is as safe and genuine an article to purchase as flour, silk or cotton goods from the mills of manufacturers with a world-wide reputation. We could not afford to exaggerate its qualities or misrepresent it in the least; and it is not necessary. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry; and how valuable such a blend and how valuable such a blending of these important medicival egents must be is plain to everyhadv. It is beyond price in Insomnia, Anemia, Weakness and lack of Nervous Tone, Poor Digestion, Lung Troubles and Blood Impurities. Science can furnish nothing better—perhaps nothing so good. Dr. W. H. Dalfe, of Canada, says: "I have used it in my practice and take pleasure in recommending it as a valuable tonic and reconstructive." It is a remedy that can afford to appeal to its record and represents the science and

"Of these classes," said Dr. Kobayashi, "We ask only that those of the first two classes be admitted without examination in English. These men have spent not less than five years and most of them ten years in the careful and exclusive study of medicine and surgery. We don't ask that the other classes be admitted without examination, because they do not hold university diplomas.

"In view of the fact that American and European physicians with only four and six years' study are admitted on diploma to practice, we assert that our diplomas are equally good.

"There are at present not over eight or nine Japanese physicians in Honolulu to a great Japanese population. To demand that all of us take the English examination is simply to prevent us from giving the exact extent of our knowledge. Interpretation is at best a bad means of transferring thought and in so technical a matter as medicine it fails absolutely.

My idea is that the best way is for Japanese physicians to present their diplomas issued by the Imperial Government the same as the American or European presents his diploma. We sive medical investigation. "One ask only for the admission of the two classes, both experienced and thorough-European and American schools."

is the best flour in the market. There are good and sufficient reasons for this, of which one of the chief is the fact that there is more gluten in EX-CELLENT FLOUR than in any other. Bread, Biscuit, Rolls and Pastry made with this peerless flour is not only wholesome, but possesses that indescribably ample flavor which use of EXCEL-LENT FLOUR alone bestows. EXCEL-LENT FLOUR is as economical as it is good, for it goes further than any other flour.

MOVING A LARGE TREE ON ROLLERS.

A beautiful specimen of the American elm was moved in Milwaukee, Wis., Alexander Klokner, landscape architect, in the manner shown in the illustration. To vacate a lot where a street was to be cut through it became necessary to cut down the tree or to move it sixty-five feet toward the east. It was decided to move it, the work being carefully laid out by Mr. Klokner, and six men accomplished it in two days. In spite of the sandy loam which constituted the ball it arrived at its destination in perfect shape. This was due largely to the unusual amount of fibrous roots which were kept constantly moist during the journey. The foliage never showed any ill effects from the moving. Rollers were put under the ball and the tree was carried along as easily as moving a house. "The people who lived near the tree were indignant at our work," said Mr. Klokner, "but their bet was met and we did the smoking. The tree to-day is as beautiful as ever. The cost of the moving was $34."
